

End User License

The user has the right to incorporate (link) the library, `adatabase.lib`, into his own applications for both internal use and distribution for sale of user generated applications. The user may NOT in any manner whatsoever distribute said library. The user may copy said library for backup purposes only.